

Get your paintbrushes at the ready for an exciting new competition...

Sky Arts want to feature children's artwork in a very special episode of 'Painting Birds with Jim and Nancy Moir' that will broadcast on Sky Arts during arts week.

To celebrate our British birds, the children's challenge is to create a picture of a British bird, in whatever material they choose.

They need to look carefully at the shapes, textures and colours of our feathered friends and find creative ways to capture them through art.

All entries need to include their name and class and be handed in at school by Monday 4th March to be in with a chance of winning!

Good Luck!
